Synopsis Books:

When Rose Jensens grandfather dies, he leaves her enough money to save her parents failing business and get her through UCLA. The only catch she has to marry Lee Montenegro, the infuriating half-Spanish, all-playboy transfer. Rose and Lees grandfathers were fast friends, and betrothed their grandchildren to each other.

Lee wants the money to run from his suffocating family, and turns his full burning charisma on Rose, but she wont give in. Shell never marry someone she doesn't love, and who doesn't love her. But memories of a mysterious boy in her childhood haunt her, and Lee insists they know each other. With her parents pressures mounting, her scholarship slipping, and Lees advances heating up with more than just money-lust, Rose is torn between doing the right thing for her family, and doing the right thing for her heart.
